Dear Sir

I accede with pleasure to the proposition you make concerning the minerals left at the Medical College, and I do this the more readily because I think it would accord with the wishes of my beloved Husband were he still with us. I do not know that a better disposition could be made of them, I must therefore delegate to my friend Dr. T. the trouble of the removal &c. and wish him to present my respectful compliments to the officers of the College at Princeton, and assure them that I shall feel highly gratified in having this remnant of my husband's collection deposited in their very useful, and justly celebrated institution; I wish the minerals were more worthy their acceptance.

I have a beautiful specimen of landscape-stone which I intended for my daughter's cabinet, but it is rather too large

...oy for her collection, and I should be willing
...t accompany the minerals now under consideral
... unless you think it had better be placed in the Lyceum with the others. I wish you could make it convenient to call at my house to morrow or any day when you are at leisure, and look at the specimen, and give me your opinion.

accept of my warmest wishes for the welfare of yourself and family
